The image shows the Waggle landing page. On the left, there's a headline "Team standups, without the meeting." followed by a paragraph describing the service. Below that are three bullet points: "✓ 2-minute setup", "✓ Slack & Discord", and "✓ Free for small teams". On the right, there's a "Create your account" form. The form has a title "Create your account" and a subtitle "Free for teams up to five. No card required." It contains three input fields: "Your name" (with the value "Ava Chen"), "Work email" (with the value "ava@example.com"), and "Password" (with a single character visible). Below the password field is a blue "Create account" button. At the bottom of the form, there's a link: "By signing up you agree to the Terms. Unsubscribe anytime." At the bottom of the page, there are three cards: "Async check-ins", "One morning digest", and "Blocker trends".

The image shows the Waggle dashboard. On the left, there's a sidebar with the Waggle logo and a list of links: "Today's digest", "Check-ins", "Blockers", "Team", and "Settings". The main content area is titled "Today's digest". It features three summary cards: "4/5 Check-ins submitted", "2 Open blockers", and "09:00 Next digest". Below these is a section titled "Latest check-ins" which contains a table of check-ins. The table has three columns: Name, Description, and Status. The rows are: Priya (Shipped the billing webhook retry queue, done), Marcus (Waiting on staging access from IT, blocker), Elena (Halfway through the onboarding redesign, today), and Tom (Reviewing Priya's PR, then release notes, today).
